

Media Release

No earthquake Grinch is going to steal their musical

8 June 2011

By Ali Jones PR and Communications

Selwyn House School pupils are gearing up for their production, Seussical, despite an earthquake setback.

Key pieces of the production's set were stored in a central-city warehouse that was damaged in February's earthquake, which has meant a busy building schedule.

"The parents have been fantastic in donating wood and lending us tools, as well as a great deal of their own time," show choreographer Kathy O'Meara said.

The girls' production involves more than 80 year 7 and 8 pupils.

It will be staged at Burnside High School's Aurora Centre this month.

SEUSSY STUFF: Selwyn House School year 8 pupils Ari Graham, left, Emily Britt and Stella Jones don makeup ready their production, Seussical, at Burnside High School's Aurora Centre this month.